General Letter-20-125

To: Dealer Principals, Service Manager, Service Advisers, Warranty Clerks, Foreman and Workshop Controllers

Subject: Service, Warranty & Online Training – Action Required

Dear Valued Business Partners,

In April, MMAL announced the launch of online training via General Letter 20-069, delivered in two phases.

The objective of all our training programs remains to empower your staff to make our customers' visits to Mitsubishi dealerships both consistent and effortless – from the showroom to the workshop and back-end systems.

Ensuring our staff are well prepared to deliver this will increase the rate of repurchase, share of wallet and customer advocacy. This is going to be increasingly important as we navigate through the current economic headwinds.

Therefore, we have taken action to make this easier:

We have increased yours and your team's ability to track and build their individualised learning records. In order to deliver this, and comply with security and privacy requirements, each member of your team will require a unique online identifier - an individual email address - assigned to your dealership.

We have also introduced a number of 2-hour facilitator led sessions for technical and warranty team members, to allow optimal training outcomes in the shortest possible period.

Attached to this update is additional information from the training team with more information about how to access these resources.

Please contact your PSDM's in the first instance if you have any questions regarding the data updates within SAP.

As we continue to provide new My Learning Hub content to support the knowledge and skills required to develop people and grow your business, please feel free to contact Lee Davey (Sales), Leon Semmens (Service), Christopher Steer (Technician) or their training teams if you have suggestions on particular areas of training support for your dealership.

Best regards,

Phillip Hope

Summary Update: Service, Warranty and Online Training
Phase 1: Online Facilitator Led training sessions

These sessions commenced early April for technical and warranty training. The Facilitator led online training schedule (including new courses) is available in "Dealer Portal > My Work> Training > Bulletins".

Service Advisor Customer Journey training has also been revamped into 2-hour sessions soon available online via Facilitator Led sessions – registration requests are underway.

Phase 2: Launch of MyLH.

My Learning Hub features various tools, resources and courses to enable your learning & development. We will continue to provide new content to support the knowledge and skills required to develop people and grow your business.

Included in this letter are your Dealer Readiness requirements, which explain the necessary actions to ensure your Service and Warranty staff gain access to My Learning Hub.

These requirements cover the following for Service and Warranty training
[Your launch readiness]

- Introduction
- Identity Management Audit
- Connectivity Readiness
- MyLH Registration
- Checklists for each section/requirement
- SAP user guide for updating Staff records specific to this project.

Service Managers and SAP administrators have been assigned permissions to action the updates within the SAP Dealer Portal.

To ensure your successful launch, we ask you to please read and understand the guidelines included with this General Letter and action the necessary steps related to your Dealership.

To assist you here, we have provided a checklist.

IMPORTANT
To ensure MMAL's compliance with security and privacy, an Individual dealership email address (i.e johnsmith@yourmitsubishi.com.au) is required.
Web-based emails, Gmail for example will not be permitted for the following service roles:

- MMTA Mechanic/Technician/Apprentice
- Service Staff
- Customer Reception Staff (Service)
- Warranty Clerk
- Service Manager
- Workshop Supervisor/Foreperson
- Customer Service Manager
- Fixed Operations Manager

MMAL Dealer Readiness

The After Sales Service Training Digitisation Project is underway and will deliver some great benefits to you and your staff, including:

- ✓ Easier management of learning history in one location
- ✓ Access to the latest learning resources
- ✓ Enabling better customer service

For these outcomes to be achieved, we require our dealership network to undertake a few activities to ensure you and your team are ready for this digital transformation of service, warranty and technical training.

This document has been put together to provide you with an outline of the tasks requiring your action, plus we've also provided some checklists to track your progress through these tasks. All enquiries can be directed to your regional staff or via MMTA Service Training servicetraining@mmal.com.au

Identity Management Audit [IDM] – Completion by 30th June 2020 (where possible)

To enable Dealer Service Staff to gain access to My Learning Hub (MyLH) staff will require an individual dealership email address with correct personal details, name, role function and BP number. Staff who have left your Dealership must be "end dated" via MMAL IDM process.

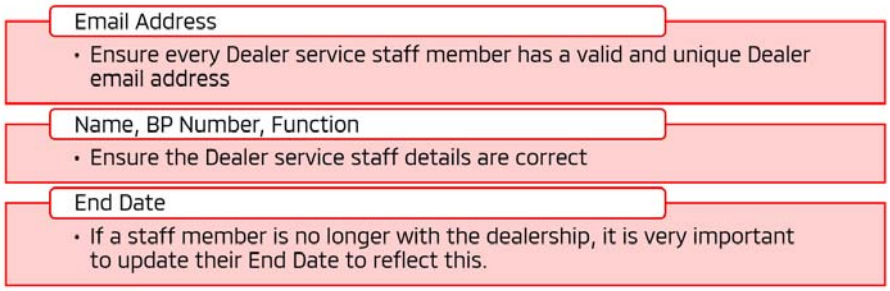

In the instructions provided, please run the Dealer User Access Tracking Report to review and update your staff details.

Historically, service staff have not required an individual Dealer email address, so we understand in many cases a generic email address is currently used across many staff members (e.g. service@abcmitsubishi.com.au).

The use of a generic email address is not permitted for privacy and security reasons. All Dealer Service Staff now require an individual dealership email address

(i.e. johnsmith@abcmitsubishi.com.au).

- ✓ The audit below is mandatory to enable access to the course materials

Connectivity Readiness – Dealer to complete by 30th June 2020

This new capability to access up to date learning materials requires that Dealer Service Staff have access to an internet capable device so staff can use an internet browser to access My Learning Hub. There are a few ways in which this can be achieved, and whilst MMAL is offering some recommendations for Dealers to consider, please discuss this with your IT support staff to determine the best solution for your individual Dealership.

Historically, use of mobile devices in the workshop has been discouraged, so we recommend a review of your policies to ensure your staff can access materials in a safe and appropriate manner.

When attending a physical training course, your staff will be provided with a loan iPad for the duration of the course, however upon returning to the dealership, they will need ongoing access to MyLH to access their learning history and course materials (as detailed below).

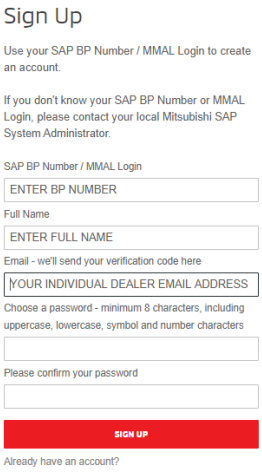

- ✓ Connectivity detailed below is mandatory to enable access to course materials.

Internet Access
- Internet access within the workshop is required

Device Options
- BYOD – staff access via their own mobile device
- Dealer provided tablet
- Dealer provided desktop kiosk

Appropriate Use Policy
- Reviewing your supporting policy is recommended

My Learning Hub – Sign-Up Process

Once staff have obtained their email address they will be invited via email to sign-up to My Learning Hub. Only Dealers who have met all the Dealer Readiness requirements will be invited to sign up to MyLH.

We will provide additional communication regarding the sign-up process with instructions, these will include pre-populated information to access their MyLH profile.

Once signed-up, profiles will include learning history, along with the learning accessible for completion.

Sign-up is mandatory to enable access to the course materials

User Registration
- Advise staff they will receive an email invitation to sign up to MyLH

Learning History
- Upon registration, your staff will have access to their learning history for courses previously completed
- Over time, course materials from previous courses will be made available

Current and ongoing access
- To support current and future training needs, your staff will have access to the appropriate up to date training materials

SAP User Guide – Dealer Staff list Management

Introduction

These instructions have been provided as a guideline for Dealers who need to review and update their staff list for all Mitsubishi staff.

Identity Management (IDM) is an important process and ensuring all staff have up to date details, including a Dealer email address, is required for ongoing access to business systems, our learning and development platform – My Learning Hub (MyLH).

It is also extremely important to ensure any staff who leave have a recorded End Date in SAP Dealer Portal.

All Dealers are required to ensure ALL Dealer Service staff are to have their own personal Dealer email address (i.e. johnsmith@abcmitsubishi.com.au).

Note: No web-based email (Gmail type accounts) will be allowed into the My Learning Hub system.

New training in Aftersales will be sent to each service user to undertake. Each staff member will do the training and be graded.

Please refer to these instructions if you need assistance in how to find, filter and update your staff information.

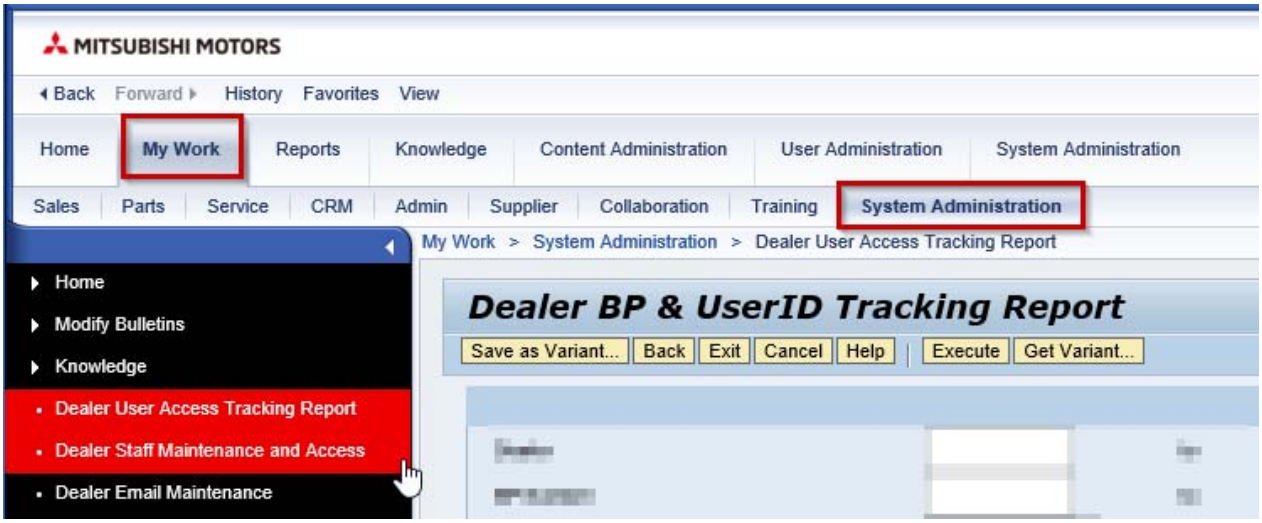

Step 1 – Review your users via the Dealer Access Tracking Report

a) Go To: My Work → System Administration → Dealer User Access Tracking Report
b) Select the Email column
c) Click Sort in Ascending Order

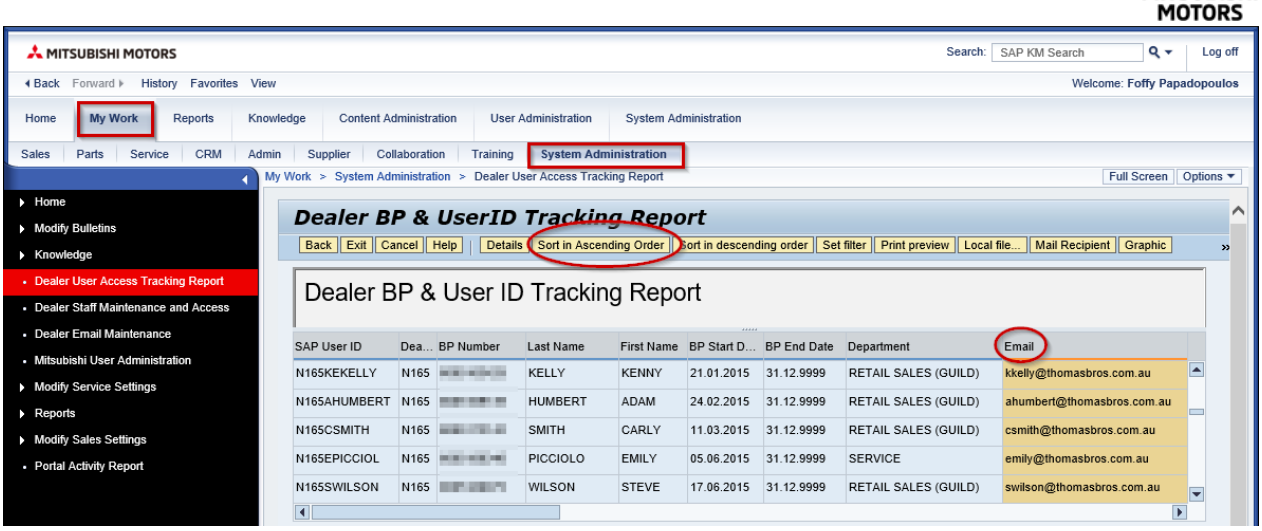

- To see only Service Staff, use the Set Filter button to apply your filter
- You can export the results to an Excel (XLS) spreadsheet for conducting a full review

You are looking for service staff who have:

- No dealer email address
- A generic or duplicate email address
- Staff who have left without a current End Date set

Step 2 – Update Staff Details via Dealer Staff Maintenance and Access

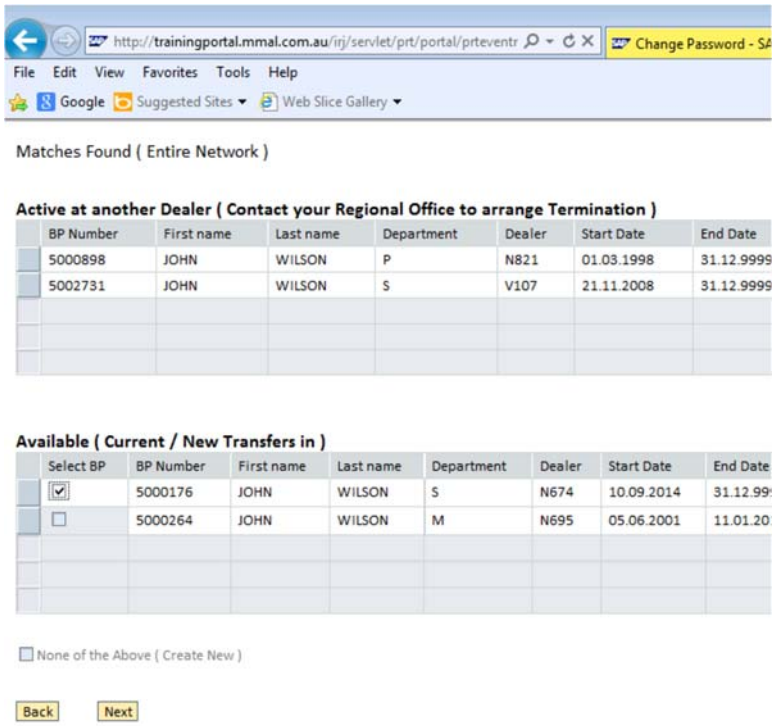

a) Go To: My Work → System Administration → Dealer Staff Maintenance and Access
b) Update staff members one at a time.
c) Search for the staff member by BP Number or name, click Next
d) Select the staff member you want to update, click Next

You can now update the details for that staff member, see next page for a screenshot.
