Packaging and Returning Failed Parts under Warranty

It is the dealers responsibility to ensure that when returning failed parts under warranty that these parts are correctly packed and addressed clearly with labels fixed securely to the failed part. The warranty returns store have reported a number of instances where parts have not been packed correctly which has lead to the contents being damaged in transit, and parts being returned without sticky labels attached.

Where possible please use the box or packaging the replacement part was packed in to return the failed part. This will ensure a firm fit and limit the possibility of damage to the part in transit. If this is not possible, then select a box of similar size and use padding around the part and tape up the box securely. When affixing the sticky labels to the failed parts, please ensure that the part is clean and free of oil and grease to ensure that it can not come off.

Continued instances of failing to package the returned parts correctly, and failure to affix or affix correctly the sticky labels, may result in the reversal of the claims applicable to the returned parts.

Correction of Infomedia contact details

There is an error in the Warranty Information Bulletin number 2007-07. The contact number for Infomedia regarding any system problems with the Warranty Information System Version 5 is 1800 810 103 not 1811 810 130 as stated. We apologise for any inconvenience this may have caused.

Claiming for extended Warranty Claims via Swann Insurance

It has come to our attention that some dealers are claiming the incorrect labour rate for extended warranty claims via Swann Insurance. The correct labour rate for Swann Insurance Claims is your current warranty labour rate not your current retail labour rate.
