Current Free of Charge and Special Warranty Part Numbers

From time to time it necessary for MMAL to issue parts free of charge to dealers to be used for warranty repairs. When this occurs, a specific part number needs to be created in the warranty system to highlight that the part was free of charge and has no warranty value. Often these parts are defined with the prefix FOC.

In addition to these parts MMAL also has a number of special warranty part numbers that are required to be used on a warranty claim.

The list below is the current free of charge (FOC) part numbers and special warranty part numbers used by MMAL in the warranty system. The list of part numbers loaded in the warranty system is not limited to the list below, however, these part numbers are the most recent and most commonly used. This list is current at the time of publishing this bulletin and is subject to change after this date.

If dealers are unsure of when to use a FOC or special warranty part number, then dealers should check the applicable communication bulletin that refers to the use of that part number.

If further information is required about a FOC or special warranty part number that is not in the above list, then dealers should contact the MMAL warranty department by phone or email for assistance.
