Re: Information for Conversion to SAP Warranty System

This Bulletin is to advise Dealers that on Tuesday 10 April 2012, MMAL will be introducing a new warranty system. This change is a result of the new SAP system implementation and, as part of this transition we will need to take the existing system off-line for several days. This bulletin also advises Dealers of what system interruptions are set to take place and when:

1. The current MMAL warranty system will accept claim submissions up until the close of business Wednesday 28 March 2012. That means claims submitted after the 28 March will not be loaded on to the current MMAL warranty system. After this date Dealers will still be able to continue to submit their claims but the claims will then be stored and loaded on to the new SAP warranty system once the new system becomes operational. All claims submitted after the 28 March must be submitted and validated through WIS; this information will be reinforced at Dealer training sessions.

2. On Thursday 29 and Friday 30 March, Dealers will have access to the current MMAL warranty system in order to correct claims that are in RFC status. At close of business (COB) on Friday 30 March the current MMAL warranty system will be turned off and Dealers will not be able to correct claims after this date. After the 30 March Dealers will have "view only" access to their claims until COB Thursday 5 April.

3. Claims that remain in RFC status and Proce status at COB Friday 30 March will need to be resubmitted by Dealers in the new SAP warranty system on or after Tuesday 10 April, once the new system has been implemented. Dealers will receive a report from MMAL warranty listing all claims in RFC or Proce status as at COB Friday 30 March. MMAL warranty will endeavour to process claims in Proce status as quickly as possible between now and 30 March in order to give Dealers every opportunity to correct their claims. MMAL warranty suggests that Dealers keep their claims as up to date as possible and correct claims in RFC status in order to reduce the number of claims that will require resubmitting once the new SAP system is operational.

4. Initially the new system will not include claim history data. This functionality is still being worked on and should be made available shortly after the introduction of the new SAP warranty system.

5. With the implementation of the new SAP system, MMAL warranty has decided to temporarily remove the ‘Late Submission’ rule from claim processing in order to assist Dealers whilst they are adjusting to the new system. This rule will be removed for the month of April and will be reintroduced effective from Tuesday 1 May.

MMAL warranty would like to thank the dealer network for their assistance and patience during the change over from the current system to the new SAP system.
