Master Warranty vs Warranty Index

There appears to be confusion about how dealers can tell if a car is in warranty or not. This bulletin seeks to clarify that issue.

When looking at vehicle details via My Work=>Service=>Vehicle Search some dealers are looking in the "Additional Data" tab to check warranty, looking at the "Warranty Index" and "Warranty Start Date" per below. In this case a warranty index exists. This will only be the case for vehicles sold prior to SAP Go-Live and is only a reference field, this information is only correct as of the SAP Go-Live date and will not reflect any updates.

To check the warranty details you must go to the “Warranty Information” tab per below.

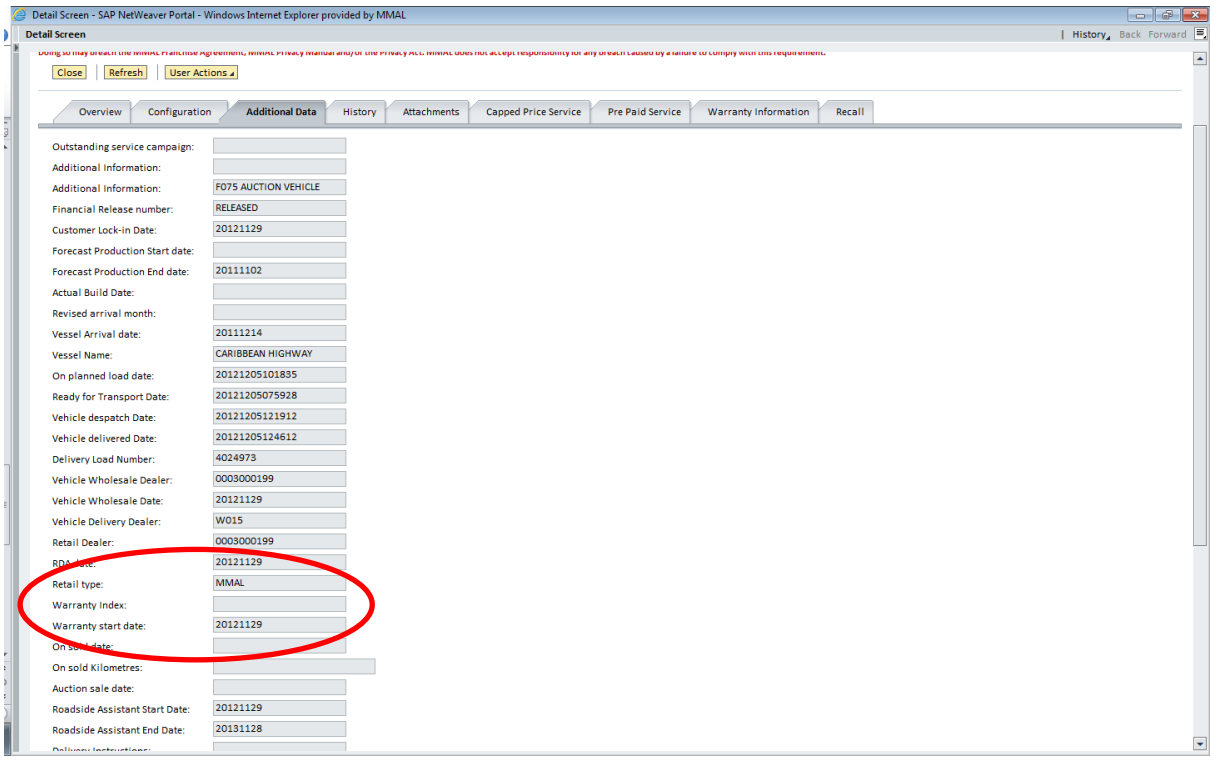

This tab will show the status of all the relevant warranties. A green tick indicates that the warranty applies based on time; the yellow lightning bolt indicates that the vehicle fails the warranty check. This vehicle fails on kilometres even though the warranties are within the calculated end date.
Unfortunately MMAL cannot add a description to the warranty type at this stage. The meaning of the warranty types can be found on WIB 2012-03 which explains, for example, that this vehicle qualifies for warranty C1-60-99 which is BODY PANEL PERFORATION WRTY, 60 months, Unlimited kms.

The example below is of a vehicle that has nothing in the "Warranty Index" section of "Additional data" but warranty is definitely applied.

Note, a vehicle may still fail on km's even if there is a green tick.
