Warranty Claim (Item Type Description)	Explanation
Spare Part, Material	Is for parts where a genuine MMAL part number can be found in ASA CAPS but does not include sundry items such as coolant which are detailed in GL-12-023. It does include the part number REPAIRED.
Miscellaneous Parts	Is for parts defined in GL-12-023 but not limited to these items and also includes items such as PANDABAT, NONGENUINE and SWAPPART.
Labour Value	Is for labour items where an operation code is applicable as defined in the operation code manual. This includes operation codes for work shop allowance, handling allowance and H? work codes for hotline fixes.
Actual Time	Is for labour items where a work code 99 is used in conjuction with a position code.
Miscellaneous Labour	This is for all other labour codes such as, but not limited to, DIAGNOS, TOWING, RENTACAR, FANTOM10, FREIGHT etc. In the case of out of warranty goodwill, any approved towing and diagnosis costs (noting that these costs will typically not be approved in an out of warranty situation) should be submitted as misc labour on the warranty claim and misc labour on the goodwill SCA.
Miscellaneous Labour (Diagnosis)	Is for additional diagnosis time required over and above the diagnosis time included in labour operation times. The diagnosis operation code is entered as DIAGNOS on the warranty claim.
Miscellaneous Labour (Towing)	Is for when a vehicle is towed (vehicle in warranty). The towing operation code is entered as TOWING on the warranty claim.
External Activity	Is for when a vehicle or part of a vehicle is sent to a specialist repairer. ie Sublet, entered using the work code LT in conjuction with a position code.
