Warranty Administration Email

In an effort to reduce the backlog of emails in the Warranty Administration email, all warranty staff will be spending some time each day responding to Dealer email queries. This is in addition to the warranty staff who already attends to the email queries as part of their normal daily duties.

MMAL Warranty ask that when replying to an email sent from the warranty administration email, that dealers do not reply to the individual's personal email address and only reply to the warranty administration email from which it was sent. Emails sent to an individual's personal email will not be responded to. The reason for this is that there is no audit trail and the email history is lost.
